TESTING A NOVEL FIRE ESCAPE. -At NIagara Falls, N. Y., on Friday evening, T. J. Athey, of Marion, Ark., dropped from the upper Suspension Bridge into a small boat waiting for him in the river below The distance is about 200 feet and Athey was aided by an aluminum steel tape. His time of descent was four seconds. The object was to test the tape as a fire escape from tall buildings. Athey was faultlessly dressed. One end of the tape was fastened to the bridge, and the rest of it was wound about a small reel. This reel Athey grasped in his hand, and pressing the brake attachment could descend with lightning ra-pidity, or stop at will. When about two feet from the water and while hanging at the end of 190 feet of the tape, he had his picture taken. His weight is 135 pounds and the the tape has a sustaining power of 750 pounds. On Wednesday afternoon A hey astened his line to a tree on Goat Island and dropped over the cliff and descended to the slope below, midway between the stairway leading to the Cave of the Winds and the American falls. Had the wire parted he would certainly have met death on the rocks below
